TALKED ABOUT IN WESTERLY

Rhode Island Political Rallies With Oyster Suppers, Vaudeville and Dancing-Death of John E. Sayles-Camp Fire Girls' Council-Teachers Attending State Institute of Instruction

There is a lively political campaign of Westerly will speak at a no-license progress in Connecticut, but it is nothing in comparison with what going on in that line in Rhode Isand, where railles are held nearly evaluated the state of the s hour during the day and well into night, and this activity seems to sally increase as election day draws r. Many novel features are being near. Many novel features are being introduced to attract people to the meeting places to hear the political issues discussed by professional spell-binders. There was a republican rally at Foster Wednesday night, the first in forty years. An oyster supper was served the three hundred residents of the town who attended.

George H. Sheldon of the republican town committee is to see Foster and go one or two better, at the republican rally to be held in South Kingston.

the Monday night, Mr. Sheldon says: vaudeville entertainment, minstrel ow, band concert, music by an orstra and free dancing are some of things that will attract to the
ly. Of course there will be the

The speakers paid glowing tribute of Dr. Peters and each was narrowly upported by the nearly two hundred resent.

John E. Sayles, a summer cottager at Pleasant View, formerly mill manager at Hope Valley, died at his home in Uxbridge, Mass., Wednesday, age 59. He was the son of Richard and Sarah E. Sayles of Uxbridge and was educated in the public schools of that town and at Wilbraham academy. He town and at Wilbraham academy. He entered the employ of the Rivulet Woolen mill, then operated by his father to learn the business. After the death of his father he, in company with two brothers, Andrew and Herbert Sayles, now deceased, formed the Richard Sayles Woolen company. He was superintendent and agent until the plant was sold seven years ago and since then was interested in mining and manufacturing stocks.

In 1883, November 21, he married Miss Lydia Collins Sprague, who survives him. He was a member of Solbmon temple, Lodge of Masons.

The Campfire Giris of Westerly and Pawcatuck met in grand council free Thursday evening, in the gymnasium of the Memorial and Library building. 65 being in attendance. The girls were all in Indian ddress and as they sat in a circle around the three lights presented a most picturesque appearance. Each group presented novelties that amused and interested, including singing, dancing and a mock combat dance in addition to the usual ritualistic exercises. The session was arranged and conducted by Miss Sally Coy, guardian of Ninigret group, Mrs. William W. Wilcox guardian of Misquamicut group, Miss Louise Coy substituting for Miss Mary Starr Utter guardian of Owekee group, and Miss Natalie Hazard, guardian of Kitchamaug group.

The seventieth annual session of the Rhode Island Institute of Instruction opened in Providence Thursday and will close Saturday afternoon. The scsools in Westerly are closed to give the teachers opportunity to attend. The meetings are being held in Infantry hall, Classical High school building, Sayles hall and the State Normal school building. Addresses will be made by educators from all sections of Rhode Island and from outside the state. The Westerly delegation numbering about sixty, left for Providence on the Federal express Thursday morning.

FINAL ARGUMENTS IN FREIGHT RATE CASE TODAY

for Commission Maintains Roads Have Brought Out Nothing

Washington, Oct. 29 .- Reviewing ar guments presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission today by coun sel for the thirty-five eastern railway systems seeking a general advance in freight rates, Louis A. Brandels, the commission's special counsel, declared that the only new fact adduced by that the only new fact adduced by the carriers to justify their plea was he European war. No specific showing had been made he said as to the njustice of any existing rates, and he expressed the opinion that if the commission saw fit to grant the advance, thereby modifying its previous fuling, it would exceed its legal powers and invade the province of congress to delare governmental policies.

Mr. Brandels was followed by F. I. James and F. E. Paulson, representing shippers of brick and tile; Frank Lyon and Charles A. Johnston, appearing for Pennsylvania coal producers, Luther M. Walters, in behalf of lumber and livestock shippers and ducers, Luther M. Walters, in behalf of lumber and livestock, shippers and Lush Butler, counted for the Chicago Association of Commerce.

All maintain that nothing had been brought out at the new hearings to justify the advance of any specific rate and that the relief sought by the carriers was beyond the legal power of the commission to extend.

PECULIAR CASE OF MISTAREN IDENTITY Wrong Body Sent From Kenosha Wis., to Philadelphia for Burial

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—Members of the family of Selden Miller shipped back to Kenosh, Wis., today the body sent here from that place after it had been identified as that of Mr. Miller. Physicians and the Miller family discovered the mistake. They say that either the wrong body was disinterred at Kenosha or the theory of Miller's death may be wrong and that he is still alive. Acting on this hope, the family today renewed their effort to locate the man who dropped from sight nearly a year ago.

Miller was the son of the late E. Spencer Miller, at one time a widely known attorney in this city. Selden Miller was a musician of note. He was the leader of the People's Choir union, an organist and a teacher of music. No reason for his disappea ance has ever been discovered.
